1 JUNE 2024

The one-day symposium OMI - Oceans of Multispecies Interconnections at the Floating University discusses the manifold relationships with water. Inspired by the concept of the pluriverse – a world where many worlds fit – the symposium brings together the respective methods, cultures, and practices of scientists, artists, anthropologists, and curators, who build bridges between science, art and activism, thereby tackling ecological problems and proposing solutions.

Questioning traditional Western ideas, negotiating human-nature relationships and sensitizing for other ontologies to establish new ways of co-existing are the central concerns of the presentations and discussions.

The term Omi, meaning “water” in Yoruba, connects the symposium with the exhibition Omi Libations (25/04 – 07/07/2024) at the Schering Stiftung exhibition space.

With Aouefa Amoussouvi, David Farò, Louise Firth, Alex Jordan, James Matharu, Filipa Ramos, and aquí Thami
