DENTISTRY 2020

KLINIKUM FREIBURG

JULY 5-6, 2013

EXHIBITION CENTER FREIBURG, GERMANY

Welcome to 2020!

---

Plans for the future must take into account that advances in the diagnosis and the treatment of oral disease are being made throughout the world.

Sophisticated informational technology will be emerging to benefit both the public and dental professionals. Cooperative efforts will no longer require that individuals be in the same room. Instead, interaction can occur almost instantly among persons separated by continents.

However, science and technology cannot solve all problems. Political will, social responsibility and the willingness to set aside cultural differences are also necessary. The dental profession has a bright and exciting future that can be achieved only by a commitment to think creatively, eliminate barriers, and forge new alliances.

As a healing profession, we must have but one overriding vision. All people, whatever their status, whatever their age, wherever they live, should have the right to good oral health. That is our call to action. That is our challenge. Let us rededicate ourselves to this vision and become faithful stewards of the commitment to make today's vision tomorrow's reality.

Sincerely yours
