

Thursday, 13 June 2019

Venue: DUBLIN (EUF), room DUB 008

- 9:00 Pick up from hotel to the summer school venue
- 9:30 6th Session: Diplomacy for Democracy in Palestine: Success or Failure?
Dr. Dalal Iriqat, Arab American University, Ramallah
Response by Prof. Dr. Anja Mittelbeck-Varwick, EUF
- 11:00 Coffee break
- 11:30 7th Session: Islam and Gender
Prof. Dr. Wietske de Jong-Kumru, EUF:
"Muslim" Feminism in the Netherlands and its Discontent
Dr. Zeina Barakat, EUF:
Muslim Women, Education, and Reconciliation
- 13:00 Lunch break
- 14:00 Student working session (til 15.30)
Free afternoon

Friday, 14 June 2019

Venue: DUBLIN (EUF), room DUB 008

- 9:30 Pick up from hotel to the summer school venue
- 10:00 8th Session: Islam and Democracy – Depiction in Literature and Media
Prof. Dr. Iulia-Karin Patrut, EUF:
Islam and Democracy in German Literature – Historical Cornerstones from Lessing to Özdamar
Dr. Nadjib Sadikou, EUF:
Rafik Shami and Navid Kermani
Dr. Thies Münchow, EUF:
Michel Houellebecq's „Submission“ – Islam, Democracy, and a Case of Radical Desublimation
Dr. Marcello Neri, EUF:
Living a Lie. The Crisis of Liberal Western Democracy on the Background of Practiced Pluralism in F. Zaimoglu's Siebentürmeviertel
Response by Dr. Amjad Abu El Ezz,
An-Najah University, Nablus
- 12:30 Lunch break

Venue: Campelle

- 13:30 Welcome by Pastor Silke Hansen
- 14:00 9th Session: Student presentations
- 16:00 Coffee and cake
- 16:30 Farewell

Europa-Universität
Flensburg

Summer School

Islam

Democracy

Islam + Democracy

It is not uncommon to argue that there is an almost unresolvable contradiction between Islam as a religion and democratic principles. The history of Islam shows that Muslims have usually pragmatically determined the relationship between state and politics, although political rule has mostly sought to derive their basic legitimacy from religion. There have been periods of very close links between politics and religion - for example, in the early days of the Islamic community in Medina - and also those in which a de facto separation prevailed, with religion often being instrumentalized for political purposes. In the opinion of most Muslims in Germany, Islam is compatible with democracy, because the Koran does not develop a theory of politics and government. Issues as such will be discussed from the perspective of different disciplines with a range of internationally known scholars and students from our partner universities in Palestine.

Participating Palestinian Institutions:

- Al-Najah University
- Arab-American University
- Hebron University
- Wasatia Academic Institute

Monday, 10 June 2019

- 17:30 City tour
- 18:30 Dinner for arriving participants from Palestine

Tuesday, 11 June 2019

Venue: DUBLIN (EUF), room DUB 008

- 09:00 Pick up from hotel to the summer school venue
- 09:30 Welcome to the summer school
- 10:00 Introductory note by Dr. Jan Völkel, Institute for European Studies, Brussels
Response by Prof. Dr. Mohammed S. Dajani Daoudi, Director, Wasatia Graduate Academic Institute, Jerusalem.
- 11:15 Coffee break
- 11:45 1st Session: Introduction to Islam
Dr. Loay Ghazawi, Hebron University
Response by Suat Alper Orhan, EUF
- 13:00 Lunch break
- 14:30 2nd Session: Civil Islam and Secular Democratic State
Dr. Arhan Kardasch, FORUM DIALOG, Berlin
Response by Prof. Dr. Mohammad Adarbeh, vice president for academic affairs, An-Najah University, Nablus
- 16:00 Coffee break
- 16:30 Transport to European Centre for Minority Issues (ECMI), Schiffbrücke 12, Flensburg (sharp)
- 17:00 Gathering in the ECMI – Introduction to the Centre
- 18:00 Keynote public lecture by Prof. Dr. Mohammed S. Dajani Daoudi, Director, Wasatia Graduate Academic Institute, Jerusalem:
“The relation between Islam and Democracy: Where do they meet and where do they clash?”

Wednesday, 12 June 2019

Venue: DUBLIN (EUF), room DUB 008

- 9:00 Pick up from hotel to the summer school venue
- 9:30 3rd Session: Political Islam and Social Change
Dr. Amjad Abu El Ezz, An-Najah University, Nablus:
“ Hamas perspective on the peace process in the Middle East ”
- 11:00 Coffee break
- 11:30 4th Session: Protest and Social Transformation
Prof. Dr. Anne Reichold, EUF:
“The ambivalent Role of Emotions in Protest Movements”
Response by Prof Dr. Zaki Saleh, Arab American University, Ramallah
- 13:00 Lunch break
- 14:00 5th Session: Islam and Democracy – Between Theory and Practice
Dr. Samir Suleiman, Hebron University
Response by Dr. David Tacchine, Friedrich-Schiller-Universität Jena
- 15:30 Coffee break
- 16:00 Student working session

Venue: Campelle

- 18:30 Social Evening