New PsychOpen Journal: Clinical Psychology in Europe (CPE)

PsychOpen GOLD is pleased to announce the launch of a new journal: Clinical Psychology in Europe (CPE).

CPE is the official academic journal of the European Association of Clinical Psychology and Psychological Treatment (EACLIP[®]) with an editorial board of internationally recognized experts in clinical psychology.

CPE's Editor-in-Chief, Winfried Rief, says: "CPE is the first and only European journal covering the entire spectrum of clinical psychology. Due to its affiliation with EACLIP it will be a unique outlet for publishing current research in clinical psychology and psychological treatment."

All contributions published in CPE will be accessible free of charge (open access), thus maximizing their visibility for both academics and practitioners. The journal welcomes research conducted both in and outside of Europe covering multiple approaches, topics and conceptual views that contribute to advances in clinical psychological science.

This can include stimulating papers that foster clinical psychology research, papers reporting advancements in diagnostics, classification, or treatment approaches as well as updates on state-of-the-art topics. CPE will present the wide range of clinical psychological research and thus will offer insights and practical advice on health care issues and approaches in the field of clinical psychology.

CPE publishes original research articles, review studies and meta-analyses. To further enhance quality and replicability in clinical psychology, CPE also accepts registered reports for confirmatory research as well as properly conducted replication studies. Striving for providing readers with the most up-to-date and cutting-edge advances in clinical psychology, CPE also welcomes submissions of scientific updates and short reports on the latest developments in the field.

CPE also offers a platform to communicate about legal issues on psychology and psychological treatment, training curricula, or political news of relevance for clinical psychology.

Submit your research to Clinical Psychology in Europe! Publishing with CPE will make your research visible for leading experts of clinical psychology. To submit your manuscript, please visit Clinical Psychology in Europe (CPE) at its website cpe.psychopen.eu.

CPE is provided by PsychOpen GOLD, The European Open-Access Publishing Platform for Psychology, a project by the Leibniz Institute for Psychology Information (ZPID), Trier, Germany.

"We at ZPID are delighted to have become the preferred partner for publishing CPE. The timeliness of our new PsychOpen GOLD platform in combination with the proven experience of our publication production team have convinced the prestigious international editorial board to make ZPID their first choice", says ZPID Director Michael

Bosnjak. "Besides PSYINDEX, PubPsych and ZPID's test archive, which are all intensively used by CPE's target groups, the journal serves as an additional rich resource for high-quality research findings."
