Part-time law master's degree (LL.M.) and specialist lawyer title

Leuphana University Lüneburg is once again offering a sought-after part-time specialization opportunity for lawyers and economists with its part-time Master's degree in Corporate and Business Law from April 2024. The Master's course combines legal expertise and economic know-how and leads to the recognized title of Master of Laws (LL.M.). The degree also includes the theoretical foundations for the title of specialist lawyer for commercial and corporate law. Applications are still possible until February 15, 2024. Interested parties can find out more about the LL.M. during an information day on January 13, 2024 on the Lüneburg university campus.

The LL.M. degree in Corporate and Business Law can be completed in three semesters while working. The course is aimed at prospective students with professional experience and a degree in law, business law, economics or other related subjects. The course content includes business law, company law, commercial and capital market law as well as accounting and tax law.

The Master's degree opens up extended career opportunities and high-ranking positions in law firms and companies. By combining up-to-date legal expertise with business management aspects, they have a broader perspective on business challenges in an increasingly complex business world and can tackle them efficiently.

The course starts twice a year in April and October. Interested students can arrange a personal consultation with program coordinator Malte Mackensen (malte.mackensen@leuphana.de, phone 04131.677-1664). All information on the LL.M. can be found at <http://www.leuphana.de/llm-corporate-business>.
